> Itisafact! Brown's Inou BITTERS, a true non-alcoholic tonic, made in Baltimore Md., by the Brown Chemical Company, who are old drug-gists and in every particu-ar reliable, will, by removing the craving appetite of the drunkard, and by curing the nervousness, weakness, and general ill health result-ing from intemperance, do more to promote temperance, in the strictest sense than any other means now known.

It is a well authenticated fact that many medicines, especially 'bitters,' are nothing but cheap whiskey vilely concocted for use in local option countries. Such is not the case with Brown's IRON BITTERS. A Difficult Question

Before the Court of Commissioners of Alabama claims at Washington comes a singular question, involving comes a singular question, involving millions of dollars. The question is: Was the Boston "a Confederate Cruiser." The Boston was a towboat, owned by merchants of Boston, Mass., plying between the port of New Orleans and the Gulf of Mexico. In June, 1863, she had just entered the mouth of the Mississippi River with a vessel in tow laden with ice when her captain concluded that a little of ber captain concluded that a little of that ice would go well with some brandy and sugar and lemons he had. He went on board the ice-ship with this object in view. Just at this moment an eighteen-oared barge, com-manded by a Confederate naval officer, which had been lying in wait in one of the numerous bayous which interlace that part of the coast, dart-ed out, boarded the towboat, and the Confederates holding a pistol to the head of the pilot, compelled him to turn her silently down stream, her tow having been first cut loose. She passed under the very guns of a Unit-ed States man-of-war then blockading the river, and escaped safely out to sea, and within a few hours afterward captured by surprise the ship Lenox and Texon, bound for New Orleans, each with a valuable cargo the captain of each of the captured vessels taking the Boston for a regular tow-boat,
